

KEEPING AMERICA MOVING

Introduction to Transportation

The transportation industry overflows with opportunities. It is way more than just trucking or working on cars. The industry features some of the most interesting technology, important and rewarding work, and great futures you can find in any industry, anywhere. What do these opportunities look like? What skills do people need to pursue them?

We invite students, Veterans, career-seekers, and career-changers to join us in one of our FREE, one-day introductory boot camp. At this camp, you learn about the transportation industry and its opportunities, practice essential career and employability skills, and tour a great company in the transportation industry. You leave with new insights, skills, contacts, and next steps.

Boot camp participation requires completion of a free, online pre-application and -training. By the end of the training and boot camp, you will:

Gain a vision of what your path in the transportation industry could look like for you

Learn about basics like employability and interview skills that serve as building blocks for your career

Learn great tools for developing your career and crafting your resume no matter where you go

Gain new insights into career possibilities through visit to a great company

Identify skills you need and skills you already have for entering the workforce

Identify next steps, no matter where you are in your career development

About the National Transportation Center

The National Transportation Center exists to attract, train, and retain an industry's workforce. It offers industry-vetted, industry-sponsored, hands-on training boot camps designed so that trainees always get what matters: exceptional skills-training they need to get real work done.

More information? Visit nationaltransportationcenter.com or email service@nationaltransportationcenter.com.